

Szymon Parol

I am a mechatronics engineer, completing my master's studies, with a passion for programming and developing modern embedded devices. In my home projects, I implement advanced solutions based on microcontrollers such as STM32, Raspberry Pi, and ESP32, which allows me to develop my skills in embedded systems. In my professional work, I create web applications, APIs, and automate processes using C# and Ruby. My dedication, ambition, and ability to work effectively in a team enable me to take on new challenges with enthusiasm and strive for continuous technological growth.
